

JENN HARPER is the founder of Cheekbone Beauty. As a First Nation Canadian, growing up in the Niagara Region, Jenn developed a passion for make-up. She continues to live in Southern Ontario with her husband and two children. For Jenn, make-up has become a means of expression that has amazing power!

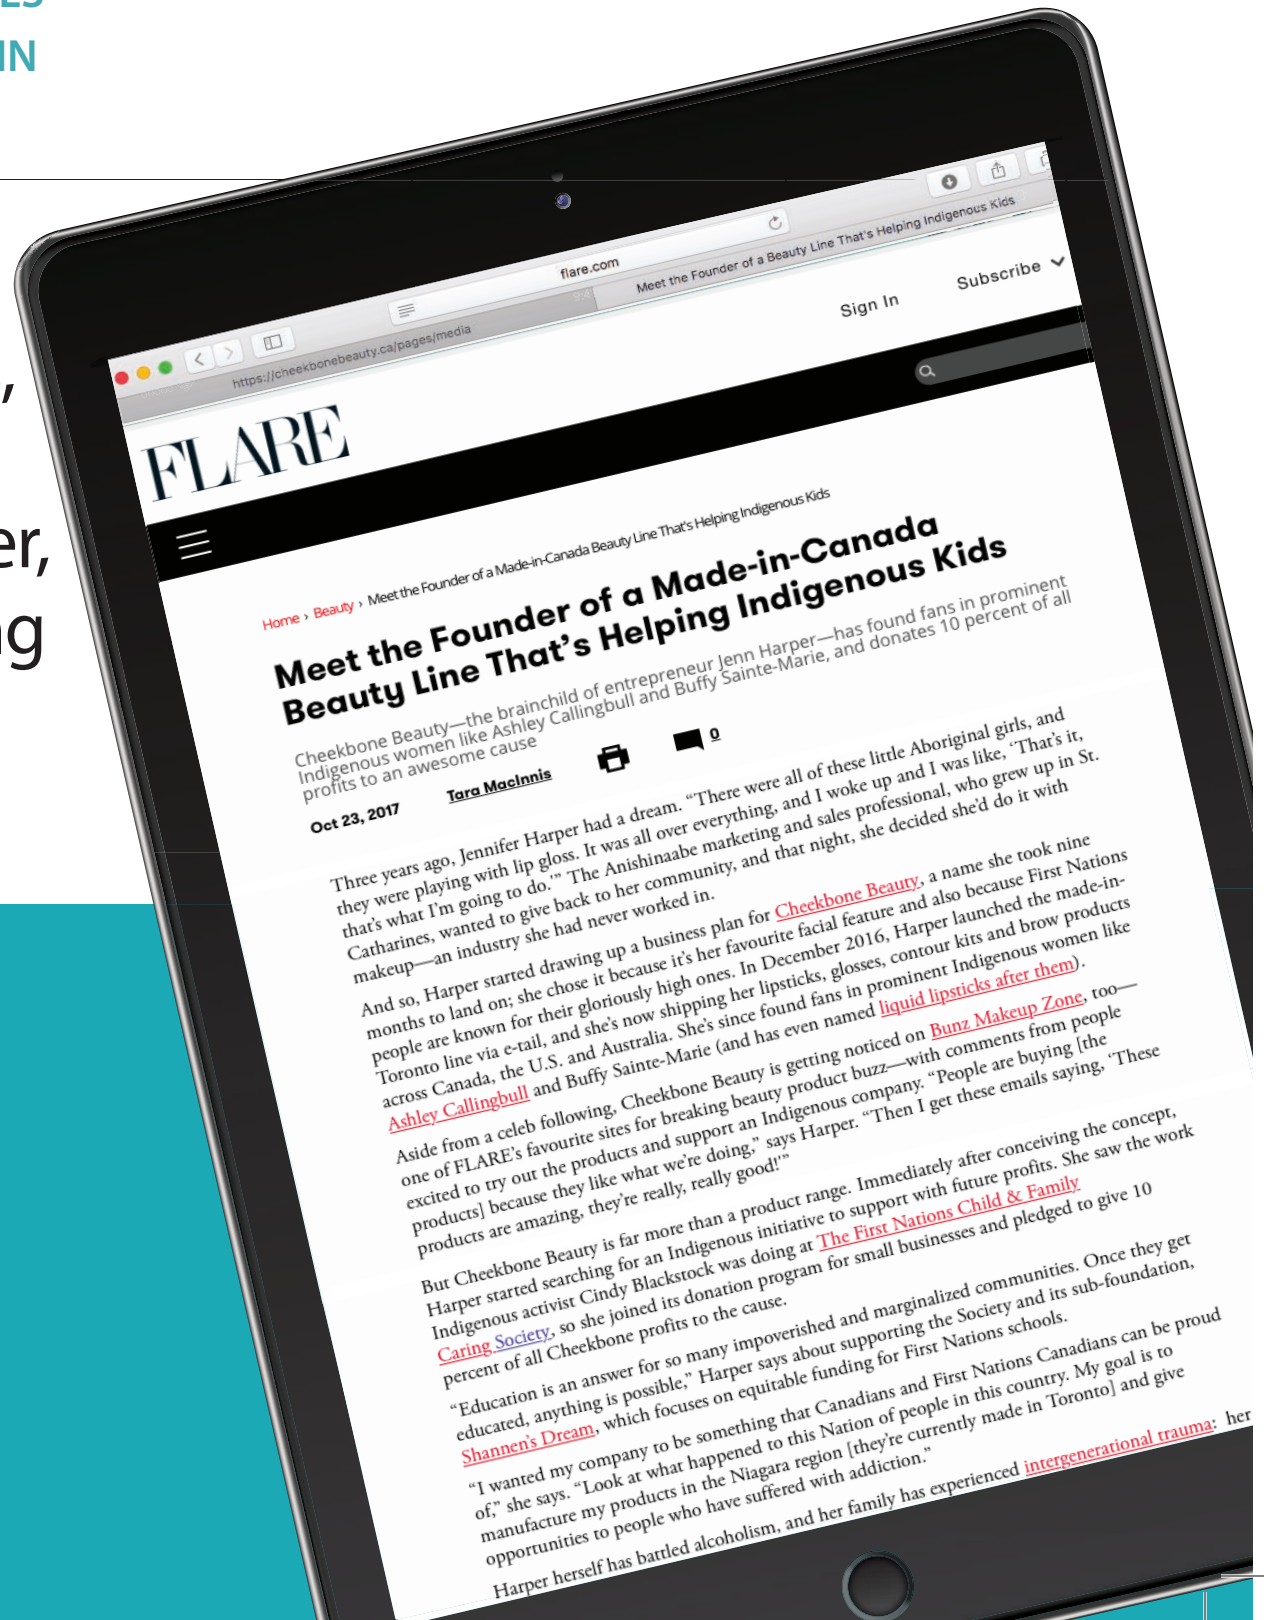

Jenn felt there needed to be a brand for real people, that offered the latest trends and was super easy. There needed to be a brand that was made in Canada, not tested on animals and that gave back to Indigenous communities. That brand did not exist, so Jenn created it!
